Mayor Catlin's Official Proclamation for Carmel's Serra Pageant

Famous Directors Comment on Pageant GEORGE MARION

Bravo Romance! Viva Imagination! Fancy run riot, juggling with centuries, what a marvelous review. It is not the idea alluring? Lord knows we are not at a loss for subject matter here in Carmel. The mind's eye pictures the advent of the Mission Fathers, pioneers in the March of civilization. What a history of courage, humanity, and Sacrifice led by the saintlike Junipero Serra, whose shrine is the jewel of the Old Mission San Carlos.

Does one doubt the wisdom of the Padre when he views the blessings nature has showered on Carmel? The grand old cypress, the sky-tipped pines, the sand dunes ablaze with color washed by the sea. But it is the struggles, the heroic fortitude of this glorious Franciscan, this holy missionier of the Divine Master, that inspire the apex of admiration and we shall strive to weave it into an old folk tale, that may inspire, as well as charm, all who at heart love California.

FREDERICK BURT

Back in Iows and adjacent air lines the populace doesn't know much about a fellow named Serra. Most of them ar populace are Methodists anyway and naturally lean eastward in biographical research, wanting to know what had a collars John Wesley was to one must excuse a slight three as to great characters right at home here on the west coast—the place whose romance and gold content really valled a large portion of the Angry Saxons out onto or across the intervening plains.

Now nature nearly dropped me into Iowa's broad lap—missing by only a couple o' states—so while I spent a husky youth husking corn and learning about Rev. Wesley, I never knew.

about this obscure Father Serra until quite a time had elapsed after ceasing to batter a bangboard with fourteen inch ears of corn. But when I did learn

Carmel Mission is his last resting place. What he did deserves every recognition this town can build for him. Let us not delay any longer now that a committee has been formed to direct summer celebration. Let us all help make it worth the memory of a great man, Catholic or not. That's why I'm glad to be on the committee glad to hold my non-sectarian hat higher in salute. Y' see he's even getting me to work! Well, its that way when y' really get to thinking about it. We want everybody within Model T driving distance to be here in August so you may help by writing letters to your friends telling all of 'em to get ready to come to Carmel for the funand perhaps a bit of worship at a worthy shrine.

Sunday last, I sat with George Marion, the dean of my profession, listening to the dialogue and stage business that he has written, and mapped out, and I heard a play that will go into the realm of "classics." His prose has the savor of poetry, his groupings of the people will be worthy of a painter's canvas. It will be Carmel's great glorification of Carmel's greatest man, Father Junipero Serra.

JUNIPERO CLUB NOW HAS 25 NEW MEMBERS

Junipero Club for boys from high school age and under 25 is now functioning with a membership of twenty-five and has elected as its temporary president Paul Taylor. The regular election will be held March 2.

The purpose of the club is recreation and no tournaments with other clubs will be entered. The following instructors are helping the boys: O. W. Bardarson, wrestling; C. L. Wilder, pool, and George Whitcomb, chess.

A new wrestling mat was installed Wednesday and most of the equipment is now in, including a radio. The old Presbyterian church at Eighth and Dolores is the club room.

NOEL SULLIVAN IN SONG RECITAL AT GALLERY SATURDAY

Lovers of song—of songs of Schumann, Brahms, Wolff, and the great song writers, will go to the Denny-Watrous Gallery on this Saturday evening when Noel Sullivan sings.

Elizabeth Alexander will be at the piano, which is in itself enough to attract musicians.

Mr. Sullivan is at his best in the small song recital such as in the Denny-Watrous Galleyr. His sensitive, musical feeling, given out through a bass voice that, while not big, is rich and vibrant, at once conveys itself to the intimate audience, as to friends in a room.

CARMEL PEOPLE GATHER TO LEARN OF SEWERS

On account of the coming bond election for the purpose of providing adequate sewage disposal of the Carmel Sanitary district a mass meeting was held at Sunset school Monday night.

It was brought out by Dr. Fortier, county health physician and E. A. Reinke, of the state board of health, that Carmel's present system has been continued on sufferance since 1929; that it is not large enough to care for the district and that it is odiferous and contaminating. It was suggested at the meeting that any who doubt the necessity of a new disposal system should take a look at the existing plant.

It was proposed to purchase about five acres of land about 1-2 mile from the mouth of the river on which to place the buildings.

The question was brought up as to what the outcome would be should the people reject the bonds. Although Dr. Fortier did not say directly that he would quarantine the beach, he did say the beach could be quarantined and that the city itself might be liable for suits for damage from individuals.

As has been stated many times, the amount to be asked for $383,000 but under the PWA, the government will make a donation of 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials which figures about $15,000. In speaking with the editor of Carmel Sun, A. T. Shand of the sanitary board said they had asked for the maximum amount and felt sure the actual cost would be much less. The bonds will be offered to the public at 5 per cent, but if no buyers are found they will be taken by the federal governments. They will run 20 years with decreasing payments, averaging 15 cents on the $100 assessed valuation.

ness License Ordinance prepared by the License Committee of the association in conjunction with the City Council. The ordinance will then be ready to be presented to the City Council for their adoption on February 28th.

EDITORIAL

PUBLIC OFFICIALS AND RESPONSIBILITY

It is not only the private individual today that considers carefully the expenditure of every dollar of income but our public officials as well, in general, are to be commended for their care in public expenditures. Only a few years ago we were all sailing blithely along, confident that the future would not only take care of itself but would grow more and more prosperous. Any one with a few hundred dollars could own a beautiful home, a new car, radio and the hundred and one things that were mighty fine, all to be paid out of future prosperity. How bitterly and ruefully the most of us look back on those flaming days now when we wonder where the next season's groceries are coming from.

It was easy then for any municipal or civic body to promote a bond issue for almost anything and the bonds were snapped up by eager investors. Our public officials took justifiable pride in pointing to fine schools city halls, court houses and new sewer systems and spent lavishly of their own time and money not to mention the taxpayers' in a wild orgy of development. But not so today. Bond issues are hard to put over to begin with, for the voter demands to know. and very justly so too, if the bond issue is absolutely unavoidable and must also be satisfied that if he is getting the utmost value for his money. And bond buyers are mighty snippity in the things they want to know, most notably, is the issue sound and the municipality able to keep up future payments.

All of which leads down to the sober fact that whatever faction or party the official belongs to when he is elected to office, he nevertheless watches his step mighty closely after he gets into the responsibility. He learns very quickly that even tax returns are uncertain-he may make up a strictly economical budget only to have the entire plan upset by defaulting taxes. And he learns something else too, and that is how unpleasantly noisy the minority faction he defeated can be and that even the people who were his strongest supporters expect something of him besides holding office. Public sentiment and popularity are uncertain and apt to be unreasonable and very viscious things in times of stress and it's well to bear in mind that whomever we elect to any office is going to have his hands and mind filled with real problems.

UNSUNG HEROES OF PUBLIC SERVICE

More people should have attended the mass meeting of the Carmel Sanitary District at the school house Monday night. If for no other reason, they should have been present and learned something of the business of sanitation and our sewer system. Details made known at this meeting by the sanitary board were enlightening not to mention astonishing to anyone not informed. It is almost tragic that one of the prime necessities of life is and presented an amazing lot of figures and detailed data that must have taken unnumbered hours of time and years of experience to accumulatebut affecting definitely the lives of people of Carmel. The trustees have considered ways and means, today's so seldom mentioned and its operation and directors given so little thought.

Trustee C. W. Whitney presided use and tomorrow's probable needs, and submit the result of their efforts to the judgment of the people.

It is quite evident that something must be done. The present septic tank contaminates water on the beach and might result in a permanent injunction prohibiting bathers on our beach which would be a calamity. The PWA offers to finance the bond issue and it is an excellent opportunity to get needed improvements. Study the propostion carefully, examine the plans and figures of the board and vote for the good of Carmel.

TOLERANCE

In the heat of any election or controversy of public affairs people are so prone to make unwarranted not to mention uncharitable statements. It is so easy to call anyone opposing us a "fool", an "old fogy", and a 'crank", and other and more nasty names. In our own elections in Carmel, there are fine, outstanding citizens for and against the fact at hand and we should view their opinions with tolerance. The fact that one man wants a new sewer system and another is opposed to it means just about that and nothing else. The individual's opinion is formed largely by his information on the subject and his own postive knowledge of his personal affairs. One man's meat is another's poison, and in the final analysis of time all may be wrong. We can only guess at the future but we must LIVE in the present. Our opponents are after all our neighbors and good citizens at heart. Let's try and be tolerant and not take our differences to heart in the form of bitter grudges.

SIX YEARS AFTER

By Edward Kuster

They knew what they wanted! Who did? The local theatre public? Perhaps. At any rate, they threw the Theatre of the Golden Bough, "loveliest theatre in America," on the scrapheap, and then many of them more or less accurately heaved brickbats at the owner for saving himself from the encoming depression by turning it into a talkie house. There for a pittance we in Carmel may nightly thrill to the selfsame show which ediffes Gopher Prairie and Hickton. Instead of finding the Highest Common Factor, we have attained the Lowest Common Denominator. Not that it matters.

Six years ago the largest audiences in Carmel's history gathered in the Golden Bough to see "They Knew What They Wanted", Sidney Howard's Pulitzer prize comedy of California ranch life. When this lusty play again goes on, a week from next Thursday, an almost entirely new cast will greet the audiences at Carmel Commun. ity Playhouse. Only the producer himself, playing the delightful character of jovial old "Tony Patucci", remains in his original role. Of the thirty others, only three still live on the Peninsula! Death, divorce, sickness, business changes - the others have been carried away on the current of the times.

Something of the spirit of Carmel's happier days of the theatre is being revived with the resuscitation of Howard's splendid comedy of the California vineyards. Maybe the aroma of Tony's "vino", shared by Joe and Amy and the Padre and The Doctor, is permeating the town atmosphere.

At any rate, reservations are already in and more are coming, for our old-timers are reminding themselves of how they enjoyed the play and are telling the newcomers about it. "They Knew What They Wanted" is the finest of folkplay of this Western country yet written, humorous and true, but intensified by supreme moments of great drama. Players may come and players may go, and theatre buildings may shut up shop and go into the discard, but "the play's the thing" after all. Carmel may be assured that when it comes to "They Knew What They Wanted" it will meet in the new cast players of whom any community might be proud.

The dates of the performances are March 8, 9 and 10.

School Notes

A class in adult education will be orvanized in the eighth grade room of the Sunset school at 8:00 p.m., Monday, February 26, Mrs. Sarah White will be the instructor and already has a small nucleus for a class. The class will afford an opportunity for beginning work in English, study for citizenship, and advanced history study. Further plans for the class will not be determined until the Monday meeting as Mrs. White is anxious to learn the interests and needs of the group. Those who are interested should telephone Mrs. Sarah White, Carmel 672-J.

The eighth grade class presented a play, "America's Contribution to the Arts" at a student body assembly Wednesday, February 21. The play was based on a class discussion of American writers and their works and the contributions of musicians and painters. The setting, scene and costumes were worked out largely by the pupils. The play had cultural and educational value.

Miss Althea Harper and Miss Helen Bohnett of the San Jose State Teachers College have been assinged to do their practice teaching at the Sunset school for the coming six weeks.

Boys are busy signing up for the baseball tournament which will start some time next week. Each boy in grades four to eight will have opportunity to play if interested. The interest shown in the basketball tournament indicaces the possibility of a six or eight team league. The games will be played after school under the supervision of Mr. Bardarson, Mr. Calley and Mrs. Rinehart. An attempt will be made to secure some of Carmel's numerous baseball stars to umpire the games. Parents and visitors are always welcome at these games.

Sunset school is quite phud of its talented teachers. Miss Madeline Currey will have one of the leads in the opera, "Patience." Miss Anna Marie Baer has designed the sets and Mrs. Sara Rinehart will have a part in the chorus.

Monterey High To Present Operetta On March 1 and 2

By William Millis

The parents and friends of Monterey Union High School will have an opportunity to observe what is being done in drams and music by high school students on March 1 and 2, when the dramatics, physical education and music departments unite their efforts in the production of Dodge's operetta, "Hulda of Holland," in the gymnasium.

An attempt has been made in this proram to develop new talent along as many lines as possible. Edith Mason of Carmel Valley and Ellen Skadan of Robles del Rio play the important role of Vrow Cats on alternate evenings.

John Roberts and Phil Walker of Carmel Valley play leads in the roles of American boys visiting the old "homeland" to find the beautiful leading ladies.

A large chorus in costume adds color to the affair, ranging from the old Dutch costume to the most modern Parisian gowns and hats.

The stage sets are under the direction of Margaret McKechney of Carmel. Jean Funchess, whose loyal efforts have contributed in great measure to the success of the operetta, will act as accompanist throughout the performance.

The production is being directed by Miss Anne Norwood, Mrs. Miriam C. Watson, Mrs. Helen Peifer and L. E. M. Cosmey of the dramatics, physical educational and music departments respectively.

The program will start propmtly at 8:15 o'clock and admission will be free.

LARGE CROWD HEARS PLAY READ MONDAY

An unusually large crowd attended the reading of the play at Pine Inn Monday night and gave the unanimous opinion that the work was well done.

COUNTY POLITICAL POT BEGINNING TO SIMMER

County politics is coming to the fore. Every day brings rumors of candidates who may enter the ring. The latest names to be mentioned are J. E. Mitchell for sheriff; George Pollock and W. C. Tuttle for district attorney and Ben Leidig for treasurer, all of Salinas.

It is almost a certainty that J. E. Mitchell will make the race. Mr. Mitchell is now city councilman and commissioner of police in Salinas and received his office through the largest vote ever given a city candidate. Six feet six inches. Mr. Mitchell stands above his fellow men and the psychological effect of his size combined with a sheriff's star would be something to take into consideration.

Mr. Mitchell has many friends in Carmel and plans to visit here in the very near future.

James K. Thoburn transacted business in Palo Alto Monday and Tuesday.
